New England Supply Chain Conference

Puridiom was proud to be an exhibitor for the first time at the New England Supply Chain Conference (NESCON) in Marlborough, MA on October 3, 2011. The annual event provides a forum for the supply management community and offers workshops, education speakers and exhibits, as well as networking opportunities. The conference theme focused on success through knowledge, skill development, and industry best practices.

"NESCON was a great opportunity for Puridiom to meet with companies in smaller and more localized setting," said Al Jacobs, Puridiom vice president and COO. "We are always looking for ways to share our procurement experience and ideas with the community as well as receive feedback from them."
